

WORKFORCE

The Lufkin workforce is comprised of 145,000 talented individuals who power industry and business in East Texas. They're educated and trained at area institutions including Angelina College, Texas A&M University, and Stephen F. Austin State University. Since 1968, Angelina College has served as the educational backbone of Lufkin and Angelina County, providing student-centered learning for more than 5,300 students.

The continuous development of our talent is paramount, and through our partnership with WorkForce Solutions Deep East Texas, workers can advance their skills and knowledge to become even stronger contributors to the local and regional economy.
